PRESS RELEASE

MARC Announces Madison Community Foundation Grant Award

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Madison WI, December 1, 2016

MARC is pleased to announce a grant award of $33,500 from the Madison Community Foundation. The award supports the creation of jobs for people with disabilities within the Dane County Community. The grant is also an important step forward in the reduction of electronic waste in landfills.

Tom Linfield, Vice President, Community Impact, Madison Community Foundation said of the project: "MARC's CyclePoint program is an important and innovative addition to local social entrepreneurship, enhancing workforce training, providing fair wages for workers with disabilities, and addressing the overwhelming amount of electronic waste created in our digital age. The project enriches our community in multiple ways and MCF is proud to fund the infrastructure for this critical work, help build MARC's capacity, and provide a new agency fundraising stream'.

MARC is a proud member of the CyclePoint Network from SourceAmerica. MARC offers a safe, environmentally friendly solution for Offline Technologies and eWaste.

Madison Community Foundation's competitive grantmaking program invests over $1.5 million each year in children and youth, seniors, community development, the environment, learning, arts and culture and nonprofit capacity building. In the past 25 years, the Dane County nonprofit community has benefitted from $32 million in funding through the Community Impact Fund. In 2017, MCF will celebrate its 75th anniversary.
